Question 12

Correct

What impact, if any, have recent regulatory changes had on Medigap plans?

- ☐ a. The Part A deductible is no longer covered for individuals newly eligible for Medicare starting January 1, 2020.
- ☐ b. The Part B deductible is now covered for some newly eligible individuals depending on their financial status.
- ☐ c. The Part A deductible is no longer covered under Medigap plans for all enrollees starting January 1, 2020.
- ☒ d. The Part B deductible is no longer covered for individuals newly eligible for Medicare starting January 1, 2020. ✓

Correct: Starting January 1, 2020, Medigap plans sold to individuals who are newly eligible for Medicare are no longer allowed to cover the Part B deductible. If an individual already had one of the plans before January 1, 2020, they can keep their plan. If an individual was eligible for Medicare before January 1, 2020, but not yet enrolled, he or she may be able to purchase one of these plans.

Question 14

Correct

Anita Magri will turn age 65 in August 2023. Anita intends to enroll in Original Medicare Part A and Part B. She would also like to enroll in a Medicare Supplement (Medigap) plan. Anita's older neighbor Mel has told her about the Medigap Plan F in which he is enrolled. It not only provides foreign travel emergency benefits but also covers his Medicare Part B deductible. Anita comes to you for advice. What should you tell her?

- ☐ a. You would be happy to help Anita enroll in a Medigap F plan that will provide foreign travel benefits as well as cover her Part B deductible.
- ☐ b. You are sorry to disappoint Anita, but Medigap plans are no longer available to those who turn age 65 after January 1, 2020. Anita should instead consider a Medicare Advantage plan.
- ☐ c. You would be happy to help Anita enroll in a Medigap plan but before she can do so, she must also enroll in a Medicare Part D prescription drug plan.
- ☒ d. You are sorry to disappoint Anita, but a Medigap F plan is no longer available to those who turn age 65 after January 1, 2020. Anita might instead consider other Medigap plans that offer foreign travel benefits but do not cover the Part B deductible.

✓ Correct: Individuals who attain age 65 on or after January 1, 2020, cannot purchase a Medigap plan that pays the Part B deductible. Generally, these are plans C, F, or high deductible F. Anita can still purchase a Medigap plan that provides foreign travel emergency benefits such as plan G.

Question 17

Correct

Mr. Patel is in good health and is preparing a budget in anticipation of his retirement when he turns 66. He wants to understand the health care costs he might be exposed to under Medicare if he were to require hospitalization because of an illness. In general terms, what could you tell him about his costs for inpatient hospital services under Original Medicare?

- ☐ a. Under Original Medicare, the inpatient hospital co-payment is a percentage of allowed charges. The percentage increases after 60 days and again after 90 days.
- ☒ b. Under Original Medicare, there is a single deductible amount due for the first 60 days of any inpatient hospital stay, after which it converts into a per-day coinsurance amount through day 90. After day 90, he would pay a daily amount up to 60 days over his lifetime, after which he would be responsible for all costs. ✔ Correct: Beneficiaries are responsible for a single deductible amount for each benefit period, followed by a per day coinsurance amount through day 90. For day 91 and beyond, there is a charge for each "lifetime reserve day" up to 60 days over a beneficiary's lifetime. After this, he would be responsible for all costs.
- ☐ c. Under Original Medicare, if the inpatient hospital service is provided by a participating Medicare provider, the co-payment is waived. Co-payments are only charged when a beneficiary opts to receive care from a non-participating provider.
- ☐ d. Under Original Medicare, the inpatient hospital co-payment is a flat per-day amount that remains the same throughout the first 60 days of a beneficiary's stay. After day 60 the amount gradually increases until day 90. After 90 days he would pay the full amount of all costs.

Question 19

Correct

Mrs. Quinn recently turned 66 and decided after many years of work to retire and begin receiving Social Security benefits. Shortly thereafter Mrs. Quinn received a letter informing her that she had been automatically enrolled in Medicare Part B. She wants to understand what this means. What should you tell Mrs. Quinn?

- ☒ a. Part B primarily covers physician services. She will be paying a monthly premium and, except for many preventive and screening tests, generally will have 20% co-payments for these services, in addition to an annual deductible. ✔ Correct: Medicare Part B primarily covers physician services. Enrollees pay a monthly premium based on their income level and have 20 percent coinsurance except for preventive benefits.
- ☐ b. She will need to pay no premiums for Part B as she qualifies for premium-free coverage due to the number of quarters she has worked.
- ☐ c. Part B will cover her routine dental and vision needs.
- ☐ d. She should disenroll if she does not want to pay the monthly premiums. There is no disadvantage in doing so.
